Summary Field Report

Findings and recommendations from 2025 field audit visits

0 Executive summary

The objective of this report on audit visits to country offices is to bring to the attention of the Executive Board the implementation status of the external audit recommendations from 2018 to 2024 and to give a summary of cross-cutting and key audit findings from the 2025 audit visits.

0.2

In 2024, the External Auditor issued 105 recommendations to regional bureaux and country offices. The External Auditor assessed their implementation status as well as the status of 27 recommendations from previous audit cycles that regional bureaux and country offices had not yet implemented. They have now implemented 109 recommendations (83 percent), 12 recommendations are under implementation (9 percent), and 11 recommendations are overtaken by events (8 percent).

0.3

In 2025, the External Auditor conducted audit visits to five country offices and issued 57 new recommendations.

In the area of supply chain, the External Auditor found weaknesses in the management of transport service providers and warehouses. For example, country offices did not assess the capacity of new transport service providers and food commodities stored in the warehouse did not match the records.

Regarding cash-based transfers, the External Auditor found that country offices did not regularly conduct a Financial Sector Intelligence Assessment, as required. The External Auditor further identified deficiencies in country offices' financial service provider oversight, such as insufficient follow-up processes for issues identified through performance evaluations.

In the area of cooperating partner management, the External Auditor found that country offices amended or extended field-level agreements with cooperating partners rather than concluding new agreements, even when the project or budget changed significantly. The External Auditor further found that country offices did not always post their cooperating partners' expenses correctly.

In the area of finance and administration, the External Auditor continued to note weaknesses in country offices' accrual reporting and asset management.

1 Mandate, scope, and methodology

1. By its decision 2021/EB.2/4 of 16 November 2021, the Executive Board of WFP appointed the President of the Bundesrechnungshof, Germany's supreme audit institution, as the WFP External Auditor. The External Auditor performs the audit of WFP's accounts for a six-year term from 1 July 2022 to 30 June 2028 in accordance with WFP Financial Regulation 14.1.

2. The External Auditor's mandate is set out in Article XIV of the WFP Financial Regulations and their Annex. Pursuant to the Financial Regulations, the External Auditor expresses an opinion on the financial statements and may make observations with respect to the efficiency of the financial procedures, the accounting system, the internal financial controls, and, in general, the administration and management of WFP.

3. Pursuant to the WFP General Regulations, the purposes of WFP are (a) to use food aid to support economic and social development, (b) to meet refugee and other emergency and protracted relief food needs, and (c) to promote world food security in accordance with the recommendations of the United Nations and the Food and Agriculture Organization. To achieve these purposes, WFP shall implement food aid programmes, projects, and activities. Country strategic plans[1] and limited emergency operations include WFP's entire portfolio of humanitarian and development activities. WFP implements its mandate in the field. Country offices account for most of the available resources.

4. The External Auditor's audit approach comprises audit procedures at Global Headquarters and country offices. The External Auditor plans audit visits to country offices based on risk assessments, the volume of operations, focus audit areas, and past internal and external audit visits.

5. During audit visits to country offices, the External Auditor issues audit observation memorandums with facts and findings requesting the respective country director to comment in writing. These audit observation memorandums, together with the comments, provide the basis of the External Auditor's management letters to the Executive Director. The External Auditor asks WFP to comment on the draft management letters and the draft of this Summary Field Report.

[1] Including transitional and interim country strategic plans.

6. By means of the Summary Field Report, the External Auditor provides the Executive Board with highlights of the management letters from the 2025 audit visits to country offices, in accordance with the External Auditor's workplan. The findings summarized are of major importance or cross-cutting nature. In addition, the report contains the follow-up on how offices performed in implementing the External Auditor's recommendations (annex).

2 Recommendations from 2018 to 2024 – Implementation statistics

7. External audit recommendations only result in improvements when the auditee implements them completely and in a timely manner. The follow-up of not yet implemented ("open") recommendations is an integral part of the External Auditor's work.

8. The External Auditor considers a recommendation to be "implemented" if the auditee has fully addressed the recommendation. If the auditee is still implementing the recommendation, the External Auditor considers the recommendation to be "under implementation". If the auditee has not commenced implementing the recommendation, the External Auditor considers the recommendation to be "not implemented". When events make the recommendation obsolete or impossible to implement, the External Auditor may consider a recommendation to be "overtaken by events".

9. Between May and August 2026, WFP provided comments and documentation to support the External Auditor's assessment of the implementation status of 132 open recommendations. The total included 1 open recommendation from the previous External Auditor, 26 open recommendations the External Auditor issued as a result of his 2022 and 2023 audit visits, and 105 recommendations the External Auditor issued as the result of his 2024 audit visits.[2]

[2] In 2024 and January 2025, the External Auditor visited six country offices (Bangladesh, Benin, Guatemala, Lesotho, Türkiye and Uganda) and one regional bureau (Regional Bureau for Asia and the Pacific).

10. Figure 1 shows the implementation status of open recommendations in total and by year. Out of 132 open recommendations, the External Auditor assessed that WFP had implemented 109 recommendations (83 percent), 12 recommendations were under implementation (9 percent), and 11 recommendations were overtaken by events (8 percent). The annex of this report shows WFP's comments on the implementation, and the detailed External Auditor's implementation assessment based on these comments and supporting documents.

11. Figure 2 provides a breakdown of the recommendations across offices. The External Auditor visited the top seven offices shown in Figure 2 in 2024. Therefore, the External Auditor assessed the status of these recommendations for the first time. The External Auditor had already assessed the status of recommendations addressed to the other offices shown in Figure 2 last year and partially in the year before.

One third of the offices have not yet implemented all recommendations

Upon reviewing the 132 recommendations to regional and country offices, the External Auditor noted that 6 out of 18 offices have not fully implemented all recommendations. Some recommendations were overtaken by events.

ESARO: Eastern and Southern Africa Regional Office; MENAEERO: Middle East, Northern Africa, and Eastern Europe Regional Office; APARO: Asia and the Pacific Regional Office, CO: Country Office.

12. The External Auditor noted that the offices had improved in several areas. In the following paragraphs, the External Auditor highlights examples of the recommendations assessed.

Recommendations to regional bureaux

13. The External Auditor issued 20 recommendations to regional bureaux when WFP was still operating in a three-layered structure. In May 2025, WFP renamed regional bureaux regional offices and merged them with headquarters to Global Headquarters. Consequently, regional offices do not constitute an independent entity. When assessing the open recommendations addressed to regional bureaux, the External Auditor considered whether the recommendation still applied to the new structure. If not, the External Auditor considered the recommendation to be overtaken by events. Out of the 20 recommendations to regional bureaux, the External Auditor considered 10 recommendations to be implemented, 3 recommendations to be under implementation and 7 recommendations to be overtaken by events.

Staffing Framework

14. Three open recommendations addressed the implementation of the Staffing Framework and the reduction in the number of affiliates. WFP introduced the Staffing Framework in 2021. The Framework limits the employment periods for affiliates and defines the purpose of affiliate contracts. The country offices did not yet implement the recommendations because WFP extended the Framework's transition period until 31 December 2026. In one case, affiliates still make up almost half of all country office personnel. The External Auditor considered these recommendations to be under implementation.

Delegation of financial authorities

15. Eight open recommendations refer to the delegation of financial authorities. The External Auditor closed seven of these recommendations as country offices had improved the processes and reconciled WINGS roles and sub-delegations in the Delegation of Financial Authority dashboard. In one case, the External Auditor reviewed the dashboard and documentation and found inconsistencies which the country office then partially corrected. The Country Director had further delegated authorities to consultants without the written approval by the Chief Financial Officer as required by WFP regulations. Therefore, this recommendation remains under implementation.

Cooperating partner management

16. In six open recommendations, the External Auditor recommended that country offices plan their cooperating partner spot checks in a risk-oriented manner. The External Auditor considered five recommendations to be implemented. One recommendation remains under implementation as the country office did not conduct the spot checks planned for 2025.

17. Five open recommendations aimed at improving the country offices' cooperating partner invoicing process, such as accelerating the clearance process and ensuring that invoices contain all relevant information. The External Auditor assessed four recommendations to be implemented. One recommendation remains under implementation as the country office has not yet specified the minimum documentation requirements for partner invoices.

Business continuity management and disaster recovery planning

18. The External Auditor noted progress in the offices' business continuity management and disaster recovery planning. Twelve open recommendations referred to this topic. Out of these, the External Auditor assessed ten recommendations to be implemented as the offices enhanced their plans, tested them and improved the documentation. One recommendation remains under implementation because the office has not yet fully addressed the recommendation.

Global Assurance Project

19. Four of last year's recommendations related to the Global Assurance Project. The External Auditor found that the offices had implemented the recommendations and, for example, aligned the country office's action plan with the corporate criteria and benchmarks. Furthermore, WFP phased out the Global Assurance Project and integrated it into its regular processes and procedures. Consequently, the External Auditor considered all four recommendations to be implemented.

3 Audit findings 2025

3.1 Overview of 2025 audit visits

21. In the 2025 audit cycle, the External Auditor issued 57 recommendations to country offices, mainly in the audit areas of cooperating partner management, management, finance and administration, and cash-based transfers. Figure 4 shows the number of recommendations per audit area.

Focus of this report on five audit areas

The 57 recommendations issued in 2025 fall under the following audit areas. This report mainly focuses on cooperating partners management, finance and administration, cash-based transfers, supply chain, and human resources.

For reporting consistency, the External Auditor reports on recommendations regarding fleet management and heavy vehicles under "Finance and administration" even though heavy vehicles are managed by the Supply Chain and Delivery Division.

22. The External Auditor did not issue recommendations to regional offices as they became part of Global Headquarters on 1 May 2025. The External Auditor used the audit visits to regional offices to gain insight into the regional offices' perspective on the restructuring process and to serve as a basis for the audit of this process. The External Auditor presented his observations and recommendations on the restructuring process in his report on the 2025 audited annual accounts.[3]

3.2 Supply chain

Transport agreements

23. Country offices contract transport service providers to transport food and commodities within the country from ports to warehouses or from warehouses to schools, for example. According to the Logistics Manual, country offices shall establish shortlists of suitable service providers. When transportation services are required, country offices send targeted requests for quotations to the shortlisted service providers. In addition, country offices should monitor and evaluate the performance of service providers regularly.

24. During the field visits, the External Auditor identified weaknesses in the management of transport service providers. For example, one country office had not updated its shortlist of possible transport service providers for the past two years. This country office had not requested the same documents from every service provider before including them on the shortlist. Another country office had increased the number of shortlisted transport service providers, but it had not assessed the capacity of new service providers and the quality of their trucks. Two country offices had not evaluated the performance of all transport services received, and some performance evaluations were still pending internal country office approval.

Warehouse management

25. Country offices store food commodities in warehouses. WFP owns some warehouses, while others are leased. Warehouse management includes receiving goods, internal stock management, dispatching goods, and documentation and reporting. Country offices shall maintain accurate records of all warehouse transactions in the Logistics Execution Support System (LESS). In addition, country offices shall document the necessary information on physical stack cards in the warehouse.

26. The External Auditor found shortcomings in country offices' warehouse management. In one country office the External Auditor identified discrepancies between the food commodities stored in the warehouse and the LESS records. In addition, the country office had not consistently maintained stack cards or properly labelled the stacks. Another country office noted a leaking roof in a leased warehouse. The country office informed the landlord about the leaking roof on 2 April 2024. In December 2024, the Country Office followed up with the landlord as the roof leaked seriously. In October 2025, at the time of the audit visit, the roof still leaked, creating a risk of damage to the food commodities stored in the warehouse.

27. Country offices must ensure effective and reliable data for food commodities stored in warehouses by maintaining accurate documentation and complying with internal procedures. They must further manage transport service providers diligently, conduct performance evaluations and maintain up-to-date shortlists to ensure that they hire suitable and reliable service providers.

3.3 Cash-based transfers

28. In the area of cash-based transfers, the External Auditor focused on the country offices' financial service provider management such as the assessments of the country's financial sector and performance evaluations of financial service providers.

Financial Sector Intelligence assessment

29. To evaluate the ability of the country's financial sector to support cash-based transfers, all country offices with cash-based activities must conduct a Financial Sector Intelligence assessment every two years.[4] The assessment reviews the availability of financial service providers, regulatory conditions, and infrastructure relevant to the delivery of cash assistance. It aims to provide a list of reliable financial service providers that the country office may contract for cash transfer programmes.

30. The External Auditor found that country offices operated on the basis of outdated Financial Sector Intelligence assessments. In these countries, the expired Financial Sector Intelligence assessment had flagged major structural weaknesses of the financial sector.

Financial service provider performance evaluation

31. According to WFP's guidance, country offices are required to conduct performance evaluations of financial service providers annually and at least six months before the current contract expires. The evaluations shall ensure continued oversight of service quality and provider performance.

32. The External Auditor identified deficiencies in financial service provider oversight. For example, one country office had no structured follow-up process in place for issues identified through the performance evaluations. Another country office did not conduct annual performance evaluations of the financial service provider.

33. Country offices should maintain up-to-date financial sector assessments and regularly evaluate financial service providers in line with corporate guidance. This ensures that decisions on cash-based activities are based on accurate information, thus enabling the early identification and mitigation of financial, reputational and service-related risks.

[4] In March 2026, WFP extended the duration to three years.

3.4 Cooperating partner management

34. Country offices contract non-governmental organizations and host country government entities as cooperating partners for implementing programmes and other activities.

Amendments of field-level agreements

35. Field-level agreements are legal contracts between country offices and cooperating partners. WFP's internal guidance on field-level agreements stated that extensions or amendments might be warranted when a complex project encountered unexpected development. Any change requiring a budget adjustment would result in an amendment. Significant changes of the original scope of the agreement, including activities, budget, roles and responsibilities, would require a new agreement with a competitive selection process.

36. The External Auditor found that country offices had simply amended field-level agreements with cooperating partners even though the project or budget had changed significantly with the amendment, such as a change in distribution modality from food distribution to cash-based transfers. In a different case, the amendment included an increase in the budget from USD 186,000 to USD 1.2 million and added an additional activity. One country office added new activities in amendments to several field-level agreements.

37. Another country office included in the corporate field-level agreement template that the budget might increase or decrease by up to 20 percent without an amendment.

38. The External Auditor had found similar issues in previous years and recommended in his report on the 2024 audited annual accounts that WFP clarify in its policy the conditions under which country offices may extend and amend its field-level agreements and when a new agreement must be signed. In response to the recommendation,[5] WFP updated its Programme Guidance Manual at the beginning of 2026 to clarify when amendments, extensions, or new calls for proposals are required.

Accounting of cooperating partner expenses

39. In the annual financial statements, WFP presents expenses incurred by cooperating partners under the "distribution and related services" and "contracted and other services" expense categories.

[5] 2024 audited annual accounts, para. 263.

40. The External Auditor reviewed cooperating partner expenses and found that country offices did not always record their cooperating partner expenses correctly. For example, one country office posted all cooperating partner expenses on one expense account, although the types of expense required different expense accounts. Another country office used different expense accounts for the same type of expense.

41. One country office recorded all advance payments to cooperating partners as expenses at the time of payment. According to relevant accounting guidance, advance payments should only be recognized as expenses when the partner had performed the service, for which WFP had paid the advance. The country office further used an expense account that Global Headquarters did not include in the cooperating partner costs presented in the annual financial statements.

42. The External Auditor had previously found that WFP had often not recorded cooperating partner expenses to the expense category best suited to their nature. In the report on the 2024 audited annual accounts, the External Auditor therefore recommended that WFP develop clear and mandatory accounting guidance for recording cooperating partner expenses.[6] In response to the recommendation, WFP established accounting guidance for recording cooperating partner expenses in November 2025. In the report on the 2025 audited annual accounts, the External Auditor further recommended that WFP establish comprehensive internal guidance on advances to cooperating partners.[7]

43. Country offices must comply with WFP guidance to decide on whether to extend or amend field-level agreements with cooperating partners or whether to start the selection process for a new agreement. Country offices must record cooperating partner expenses on the expense accounts determined by headquarters so that the financial statements show reliable overall expenses. Global Headquarters should ensure that country offices comply with the most recent guidance documents.

3.5 Human resources

44. The External Auditor focused on the country offices' personnel file management and the use of Workday as its new human resources management system.

[6] 2024 audited annual accounts, para. 68.
[7] 2025 audited annual accounts, para 254.

Workday

45. Workday went live on 1 July 2024. Workday shall cover several human resource processes, including recruitment, performance, and evaluation. WFP stated that the implementation of Workday also supported personnel file management. As of the go-live date, country offices shall store all human resource documents on Workday, except strictly confidential files.

46. The External Auditor found that three country offices did not yet fully use Workday as required. One country office processed personnel actions twice: once in Workday and once outside of Workday by using a template. Another country office continued to rely on SharePoint for storing human resource documents and had not uploaded various documents to Workday. Another country office recorded contradicting working hours in Workday and WINGS.

Personnel Files

47. In October 2024, WFP issued a standard operating procedure for personnel files that includes a file naming convention and file structure for the corporate SharePoint system. WFP reissued the guidance in March 2025 with additional details. According to the standard operating procedure, country offices should continue to retain essential documents issued prior to the Workday go-live date in SharePoint.

48. The External Auditor's audit visits revealed that country offices still did not have complete personnel files in their corporate SharePoint system. One country office maintained paper personnel files of individual employees instead of using SharePoint. Another country office spread personnel files across multiple SharePoint folders contrary to the standard operating procedure's requirements.

49. The External Auditor has noted shortcomings in the structure and maintenance of personnel files since 2022.[8]

50. Country offices should use Workday for human resource management to avoid additional work and costs. Only when country offices use Workday exclusively, can WFP's management of personnel data be standardized.

[8] Summary Field Report, Findings and recommendations from 2024 field audit visits.

3.6 Finance and administration

51. In the area of finance and administration, the External Auditor continued to note weaknesses in various areas.

Accrual reporting

52. According to IPSAS accounting rules, transactions must be recorded in the financial statements for the period they relate to and not when cash is received or paid. Country offices need to inform Global Headquarters annually of all transactions which require an accrual for the preparation of the financial statements.

53. In one instance, Global Headquarters' analysis of relevant transactions for a country office's accruals revealed that the country office had not identified 70 percent of relevant transactions. The External Auditor further found additional transactions relevant to accrual reporting that Global Headquarters had not identified.

54. The External Auditor identified accrual submissions as a recurring audit issue in the Summary Field Report on the 2024 field audit visits.

55. The External Auditor urges country offices to implement measures to improve the accuracy and completeness of their accrual submissions. Global Headquarters should support country offices' implementation efforts.

Asset management

56. Country offices track the condition (e.g. new, broken) and user status (e.g. in use, on loan, missing) of each asset and assign it to a functional location such as an office or a warehouse.

57. The External Auditor found weaknesses in three country offices' asset management, such as late recording of assets in the country offices' asset register, asset registers that contained incorrect data, and non-compliant disposals.

58. The External Auditor identified asset management as a recurring audit issue in the Summary Field Report on the 2024 audit visits.

59. The External Auditor urges country offices to implement measures to improve the accuracy and completeness of their asset management. Global Headquarters should support country offices' implementation efforts.

Fleet management

60. WFP's fleet of vehicles, including trucks, play a critical role in its operations. The fleet represents a substantial share of WFP's assets and contributes significantly to operational costs.[9] Offices record vehicles in the asset register and the Fleet Management System.

61. According to the Management Services Manual, country offices should define the fleet profile based on operating conditions and locations. Country offices should review and adjust the fleet plan annually. Similarly, the Logistics Manual stipulates that country offices should review and evaluate the effectiveness of heavy vehicle configuration and adjust, as necessary, to address any emerging challenges.

62. The External Auditor found that one country office had a high number of light vehicles relative to its number of employees, with one vehicle per 2.3 employees. This country office had not regularly reviewed and documented its overall fleet demand. In addition, the country office had not recorded the same data in the asset register and in the Fleet Management System.

63. In another country office, the External Auditor noted that 21 percent of the trucks were not operational. This raised concerns about fleet efficiency and resource utilization.

64. Country offices should review their fleet demand regularly and ensure that they use fleet resources efficiently and effectively.

A decision memo signed by management has been provided to the External Auditor to document that the head of the Technology Unit contract will remain a service contract and will not be converted to fixed-term due to budget constraints and the anticipated move of the office location to the new capital.	The Country Office has converted the majority of relevant consultant positions. The Country Director decided not to convert one position due to several considerations. The External Auditor encourages the Country Office to regularly review the contract modality and considers the recommendation to be implemented.	X

3	2022 Lebanon Country Office para 22	The External Auditor recommends that the country office dispose assets recorded as property, plant and equipment when no future economic benefits or service potential are expected, perform physical verification procedures in a manner to identify such assets.	The Country Office identified and disposed of assets with no future economic benefit through a public auction, supported by a targeted marketing campaign. The auction was successfully executed, documented, and reported.	The Country Office disposed of several property, plant and equipment items without future economic benefits or service potential. 4	2022 Lebanon Country Office para 56	The External Auditor recommends that the country office employ staff members for management positions such as head of unit instead of affiliates.	The October 2025 Organizational Alignment and Strategic Workforce Planning exercise was updated and formally approved, establishing a revised organizational structure that strengthens leadership stability, accountability, continuity, and cost-efficiency. The submission supersedes the previous 2022 alignment and is supported by the approved 2025 organizational charts reflecting the finalized Country Office structure.	The Country Office reviewed and changed its structure. Only a limited number of units led by consultants remained. The Country Office explained why these positions still needed to be headed by consultants. The External Auditor holds that the Country Office should continuously review such positions. The recommendation is considered to be implemented.	X
5	2022 Zimbabwe Country Office para 33	The External Auditor recommends that the country office enhance internal controls to avoid the need to initiate post factum purchase orders.	The Country Office strengthened procurement planning and controls by developing and approving a comprehensive 2025 procurement plan, engaging all units in advance planning, and providing guidance to reduce post-factum requests. These measures resulted in an 87 percent reduction in post-factum cases from 15 identified during 2020–2023 to only 2 in 2026.	The Country Office enhanced processes to avoid post-factum cases. For example, it developed a comprehensive procurement plan to prevent post-factum cases. The recommendation is considered to be implemented.	X

9	2023 Burundi Country Office para 62	The External Auditor recommends that the Country Office Burundi ensure that consultants occupy core functions only temporarily and in exceptional cases.	Following the Organizational Alignment exercise, resulting in the abolition of 40 percent of positions, the core function was retained as a consultancy position due to budget constraints. The position preserves critical technical expertise and supports local capacity building. This was reviewed and endorsed in accordance with established HR policies and procedures.	The Country Office stated that it had abolished 40 percent of the office positions. One core function continued to be occupied by a consultant.
