Barrier to inclusiveness and equity in education

- Primary school enrolment in Ethiopia has jumped from 3.7 million students in 1999 to 20.6 million by 2018.
- Dropout rates in primary schools are high and primary education graduation rates are only 57 percent.
- Approximately seven million children live in chronically food insecure areas of the country, and often go to school hungry.

School Feeding in Ethiopia

- USDA McGovern-Dole Food for Education
- Home Grown School Feeding - in Southern and Oromia regions
- National school feeding capacity, funded in part through the McGovern-Dole programme
- Emergency School Feeding

Girls' Initiative Programme - Take-Home Rations

- “Our sisters are bringing the oil and come to school as well, and we are happy for them.”
- WFP expanded take home ration (THR) specifically targets girls, as part of the FFE activities in 2014, in order to address gender parity and equity.

National School Feeding Programme

“By 2030, all pre-school and primary school children in Ethiopia get equitable access to safe, adequate, and nutritious school meals that significantly contribute to the development of their full potential.”
