wfp.org

Purpose

- 1: Highlight findings, lessons and recommendations from 2013
- 2: Account for OEV's performance against workplan and resources

Evaluation by type, 2013

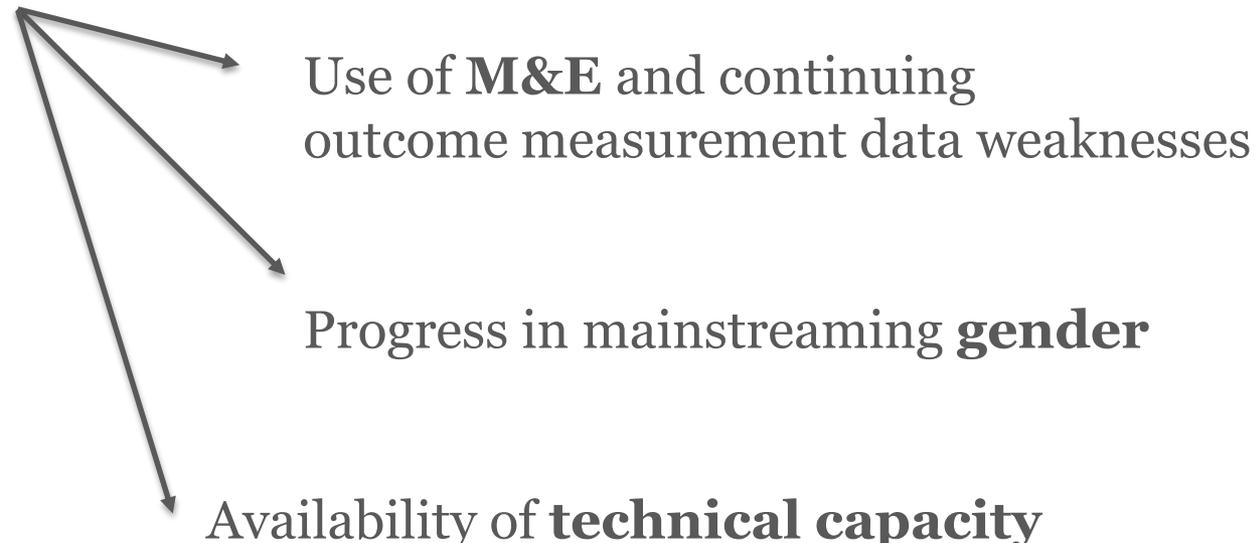

PART 1: Findings

Confirmation

- Relevance and effectiveness of WFP's emergency response
- Application of food assistance to longer term needs
- FFA/T effective for land-based productivity, gendered livelihoods support and social cohesion
- Increased efforts towards flexible and locally responsive programming
- Gender-sensitive country based programming
- Pilots to develop innovative programming

Challenges

- Rigidities of in-kind humanitarian funding and programme categories
 - Chronic under-funding of longer term perspective programming
 - Limited
 - Use of M&E and continuing outcome measurement data weaknesses
 - Progress in mainstreaming gender
 - Availability of technical capacity

Conclusions

- Need for longer term strategic positioning with partners supported by funding diversification
- Country portfolios need more systematic & longer term strategic planning
- WFP's work is relevant in MICS but operating models not conducive to long term engagement required
- Scope for common services and more technical guidance/support in small COs
- Stronger M&E systems alongside other analysis/assessments.

Recommendations

- 1 Set clear and systematic requirements for CO Strategic Planning
- 2 Define (and meet) essential capacity requirements for small CO's
- 3 Develop a country portfolio approach to M&E planning
- 4 Implement the agreed gender policy evaluation recommendations in full
